WHY DOES GML FOLLOW THE GANN SYSTEM?

Thirty-five years have elapsed since Fred Stafford first researched the hundreds of methods of interpreting the movements of stocks and share markets. We will illustrate what makes the investment techniques of one Wall Street trader so special.

The Gann techniques will be explained and you will be shown examples of how it is possible to prepare for future events so that you can make buy, sell or hold decisions based upon the given facts at that time. As the preparation is derived from past events, we will stress the importance of using accurate historical data that should cover as many years as possible.

William. D. Gann

This accuracy is essential in ensuring that a complete picture is achieved prior to the decision time. We will show that it is possible to adopt long, medium or short term strategies that can be used according to prevailing market conditions and your own personal investment strategies. We will discuss the importance of Money Management rules and the placing of stop losses.

At GML we believe first of all in protecting your profits and reducing your losses; once achieved we can show you how to increase your profits!

Protect and enhance your investment capabilities

Imagine having the freedom of choice that specialist knowledge gives you. The freedom to be more confident through being able to interpret data and act on soundly-based conclusions; the freedom to have access at any time to the most useful database of its type in the world!

Comprehensive and continued training

Unlike some analytical software products GML offers a comprehensive training programme at workshops in London, Manchester and Dublin and venues around the globe. Firstly, the basic workshop which will show you the software functions and analytical tools. An extensive look into our Focus conference site which will give you daily advice on when to buy and sell shares etc.

We then have more advanced courses on the works and techniques of the gann trading system which is ongoing on a daily basis. We don't just give you a piece of software, we show you how to use it.

THE CHESHIRE SEMINAR (The Agenda)

Having set the scene in general terms, the seminar moves on to take in the more specific and topical, using the GML system to apply Gann's techniques to items of audience interest. Recent points for discussion have included:
